"More than ever we need people leading our health care institutions that have the knowledge, have the leadership, have the vision and have the compassion needed to guide us these difficult times.

Michael Rosenblut embodies these qualities and that is why he is our choice for the Voices for Truth and Humanity's Humanitarian Award.

Westchester.

Here is a man who not only would make his father, Alan, who also had a distinguished health care career proud, but makes all of us proud as well.

Michael Rosenblut, thank you for all you do to keep New Yorkers healthy and safe."

After thanking everyone for the Voices for Truth and Humanity Humanitarian Award, Rosenblut referenced his family's connection to the Holocaust by saying the following.

"In memory of my family members who were lost in the Holocaust I am grateful to be receiving this award. I remember as a child asking my mother, of blessed memory, why there were pictures unframed hanging in our home in Rockland County. My mother sat me down as a child and explained to me these pictures were painted by our relatives on the rear of gift boxes who perished in the Holocaust but were smuggled out and then left for our family. That memory stays with me 35+ years later.

It is so critically important as our prior speakers, Rabbi Cohen and the County Executives said about these antisemitic groups we always have to be prepared to fight against.

During the past several decades, Parker Jewish Institute cared for Holocaust survivors both as in patient and community patients in our local communities in Nassau County. It has meant a lot to us to care for these individuals.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate my fellow honorees and offer a special thank you to the Parker Jewish Institutes Board members, Bob Sterling, Jerry Landsberg, Lenny Tenzer and Mike Durhoff along with the entire executive team here with us at this event."
