

From the Office of New York State Senator Monica R. Martinez

During the COVID-19 crisis, the Office of New York State Senator Monica R. Martinez is committed to keeping the community informed.

The Executive Order 202, forced many businesses to close and required non-essential workers to stay home to stop the spread of the virus and save lives. As essential workers, members of my team are working remotely to provide the same services to the residents of the Third Senatorial District.

We are all available via phone and email if residents need questions answered on the current crisis, and/or everyday inquiries residents of the district may have.

New York State has taken measures to protect its residents by creating informational hotlines such as the COVID-19 hotline for pandemic related questions, an Emotional Support hotline, Consumer Protection hotline, to deter scams and price gouging and many more.

We will continue to provide the best possible service and residents can call our office for assistance at 631-330-3356, visit our website at <https://www.nysenate.gov/senators/monica-r-martinez> or visit our FaceBook page at @SenatorMonicaRMartinez.

The Third Senatorial District is diverse, unique, and strong and we are here for our neighbors.

Please practice physical distancing whilst remaining socially connected through the use of technology to stay in touch with your friends and family. Please stay healthy and safe! As your Senator, I am here for you and your family.
